

Teaching Evaluation

If evaluation of learning is important to demonstrating your effectiveness as a teacher, students' progress in meeting objectives, or portfolio obligations, two surveys that can be used as pre-and post measures are located under "Evaluation Tools." The Farm Safety Attitude survey evaluates safety attitude and safety behaviors. The Stages of Change survey measures whether the teaching and learning has been effective in moving the student from thinking about being safer to actually taking actions to become safer on the farm. Scoring instructions are located with the surveys.
